

LIC1700 Garland #1858. This is the root ancestor of the Lower Island Cove Garlands. All information on the Lower Island Cove Garlands is from FL1998a unless otherwise stated. The information received was largely in the form of baptismal records grouped by family and marriage records. In order to make some sense of the records, fictitious 'placeholders' were introduced, eg, LIC1750 Garland is a fictitious person born about 1750, to act as a placeholder in the overall family tree. With this device, all families of the same time frame but no known connection could be placed together in the overall tree. It is not implied that these groupings have a common father; they just lived at roughly the same time. This makes it easier to sort out possible connections. The tree was created starting with the oldest families first. As more recent families are entered, the previously entered records were scanned to look for possible matches. Typically, the baptismal records give parents' names but not their age. Sometimes, marriage records for these people supply age and so they can be linked to their parents with reasonable certainty. Or direct connections could be inferred when names were relatively unique, sons were named after grandfathers, etc. Other times, the connection was deemed possible but not certain, such as when dates make the link of a child to a later marriage possible, even probable, but not reasonably certain. Such connections are indicated by the notation '? link' in the reference field. Thus the details of the various families are correct with a high degree of certainty but the overall lineage is, in many cases, speculative. At the very least the tree as presented provides a platform for discussion, correction and growth. Unless otherwise stated, an entry with the notation '? link' means that this person was listed in baptismal records (hence parents and siblings are certain) and the same name shows up in a marriage record some 20 or 30 years later; hence they are assumed to be the same person.

Lemuel died 31 Jan 1915. Baptismal records show a Lemuel and Susanna (maiden name unknown) as having Joseph Gordon in 1903. A separate record shows a Lemuel and Susanna (nee Johnson) having 8 children from 1897 to 1911. I am speculating that these are one and the same Lemuel and Susanna. Susanna: Marriage records say age 25 in 1894, therefore dob ~1869. Death records say aged 86 at death, therefore dob ~1871. Headstone says died at age 88, therefore dob is 1869.

As the Halifax Explosion (Thursday, December 6, 1917) was occurring Susanna was giving Clifford a bath. She bent down to protect him and glass was blown into her face and head. As a result she went blind. Several years later she died of a brain tumor which was caused by her injuries. David Collins was working at the waterfront and was blown into the water but not seriously injured. He later moved to New York where he remarried. No children were born of this marriage. Dorothy looked after her younger sisters and the four boys were sent to an orphanage in Truro. Three of the boys ended up in the Cape Breton area. Lawrence was brought up in the Truro area. All info on Susanna's decendants are from [VM2001b]. Some of her children were born in Quebec City and some in Halifax.
